Senators Move For Early Ratification of Treaty

BLAME FOR DELAY IS LAID TO WILSON

Conference To Be Held By Reservationists to Hurry Action on Pact

SCANTY INFORMATION CAUSES RESENTMENT

Senate Foreign Relations Committee to Question David H. Miller

By L. C. MARTIN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—"Mild reservationists" in the senate today displayed new activity in an attempt to hasten ratification of the peace treaty, in line with President Wilson's warning that living conditions will not go down to stay until there is real peace.

A conference was arranged for this week between senators favoring mild reservations and Senator Lodge, leader of the group which demands strong reservations. The conferees will meet in the hope of bringing affairs to a stage where they can convince the Democrats the time has come to accept reservations to insure quick action on the treaty.

Wilson's opponents in the senate are voicing resentment at what they term the "scantiness" of the information he sent to the capitol in response to resolutions asking stenographic records of the peace conference and other documents to throw more light on the Paris proceedings.

They are known to be considering issuing a statement to the country in which they will assert that the president, while urging speedy ratification is delaying progress by withholding information.

The senate foreign relations committee will continue its efforts to get information about what went on at Paris by questioning David H. Miller, state department expert on international law. After this, Lodge plans to address the senate, voicing his opposition to the league.

A sub-committee of the judiciary committee was to meet today to begin an inquiry into the constitutionality of the proposed treaty whereby America promises to defend France from unprovoked German attack.

America, Independent, Can Do Best Work, Says Lodge

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—America, independent, can be of greater service to the world than America "fettered" by the league of nations, Senator Lodge, Massachusetts, Republican leader of the senate, asserted today in a senate speech on the league.

"By meddling in all the differences which may arise among mankind, we simply fritter away our influence and injure ourselves to no good purpose," said Lodge.

"We shall be of far more value to the world and its peace by occupying, so far as possible, the situation we have occupied for the last twenty years and by adhering to the policy of Washington and Monroe."

Lodge denied this means a policy of American isolation. That, he said, is no longer possible because the United States became a world power at the time of the war with Spain.

"Nobody," said Lodge, "expects to isolate the United States or to make it a hermit nation."

PERSHING GOING TO ITALY.

PARIS, Aug. 12.—Gen. Pershing will leave for Italy Saturday, visiting Rome and the battlefields.

Five Thousand Women of State To Get Wage Raise

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—Approximately 5,000 experienced women employed in all establishments except mercantile establishments will receive a wage increase from $10 to $13.50 weekly August 20, according to announcement by the state industrial welfare commission. Minors must be paid not less than $9 per week for the first three months, not less than $10 per week for the second three months, and not less than $12 per week for the third three months of employment. After a nine months' apprenticeship the minimum will be $13.50.

No woman or minor may be employed in any office for more than eight hours in any one day or more than six days in any one week. For Sunday work the rate shall be one and a quarter.

THEATRE MANAGERS TO FIGHT STRIKING ACTORS IN COURTS

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The Producing Managers' Association has announced its intention to fight the striking actors in court.

The Shuberts have filed suit in the United States district court for $500,000 damages against the Actors' Equity Association, collectively, and nearly 300 members individually.

Florenz Ziegfeld, Jr., obtained a temporary injunction against officers of the Equity Association, preventing them from interfering with the "Ziegfeld Follies" and another against the members of the production, preventing them from walking out.

The Shuberts' suit, based on the forced closing of two of their productions, will be followed by similar actions, brought by other managers, it is understood.

Among the prominent actors named in their suit are Joseph Santley, Sam Bernard, Ernest Truex, Eddie Foy, Mary and Florence Nash, Alla Nazimova, Fred Stone, Otis Skinner, Julia Sanderson, Francis X. Bushman, Richard Carle, Douglas Fairbanks, William S. Hart, Laurette Taylor, J. Forbes Robertson, Cyril Maude, Robert Edeson, Blanche Ring, William and Dustin Farnum, Elsie Ferguson, Trixie Friganza, DeWolfe Hopper, Wilton Lackaye, Frank McIntyre, Robert Mantell, Julian Eltinge, Leo Ditrichstein, Chauncey Olcott, Maclay Arbutuckle and Maurice Costello.

At producers' headquarters it was predicted that suits aggregating $500,000 would be filed.

One theater opened last night, leaving ten still "dark." The show that came back was "Listen Lester," Geo. E. Stoddard and Harry L. Cort, co-authors, played parts. There were only four of the original principals in the cast.

The Lyric theater, formerly "legit," has turned to the movies to keep going.

E. H. Sothern has begun formation of an organization to oppose the Equity Association and has announced David Warfield, Mrs. Fiske, Henry Miller and Howard Kyle as recruits.

BIG FRENCH PLANE LANDS IN MOROCCO ON TRIP TO DOKAR

PARIS, Aug. 12.—The giant French airplane Goliath, under command of Lieutenant Bossoutrot, arrived at Casa Blanca, Morocco, at 5:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon on its flight to Dakar (in the French African colony of Senegal). The plane started from Villa Coublay, near Paris, at 1:20 yesterday morning.

Lieut. Bossoutrot hopes to complete the distance to Dakar, 3,000 kilometers (1,863 miles) in three days, believing he will average 130 kilometers (80.73 miles) an hour.

At Casa Blanca he had planned to take on a machine gun and revolvers and rifles for the entire crew of ten, to be used in the event the plane was forced to descend amidst savage tribes between Casa Blanca and Dakar.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—The giant seaplane "Felixstowe Fury" while tuning up for the flight to Cape Town, South Africa, scheduled for today, crashed to the ground off Felixstowe yesterday, killing one of the crew. The other six members were saved.

BULLETINS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12.—Lewis B. Harris, convicted of the robbery of the Bank of Artesia, was sentenced to 25 years in San Quentin by Superior Judge Taft today. Motion for a new trial by Harris' attorney was denied. Harris was sentenced to 15 years for grand larceny and 10 years for burglary. The sentences will be served consecutively.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—The Marines of the Second Division, including many veterans of the Marne and Chateau Thierry, paraded up Pennsylvania avenue today. President Wilson reviewed the troops at the White House. There were two regiments in line. The senate recessed for two hours in honor of the Marines.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—The anti-Bolshevik government of the Archangel region in Russia today appealed to the Allies not to withdraw their support. The note was made public by the state department. Military, financial and railway support is needed if the northern part of Russia is to be saved from the Reds, it was stated.

LONG BEACH, Aug. 12.—Joseph R. Richards, vice-president and director of the City National Bank of Long Beach, died today at a local hospital. Richards had just undergone an operation for appendicitis.

PORTLAND MEN WILL MEET LONGSHOREMEN

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 12.—En route to Seattle today are representatives of Portland's shipping, civic and commercial interests and leaders of the longshoremen's union.

They will attend a conference on the longshoremen's wage issue in Seattle. The meeting in the Sound City is expected to develop some definite program regarding the demands of the longshoremen for changes in working conditions and increases in wages. These unionists demand $1 an hour straight time and $1.50 for overtime. The Seattle conference will be of vital interest to all Pacific coast cities.

BUTTONS ON SALE FOR SOLDIERS' OUTING

War Service Recognition Association Campaign Begun in County

MEMBERSHIPS TO PAY EXPENSES OF AFFAIR

Names of Buyers Will Be Put in Cornerstone of Memorial at Park

BUTTON, button, who has the button?

This is the popular game in Santa Ana today and throughout Orange county, for that matter. It will continue to be popular for the week, and he or she who cannot answer "here!" at the conclusion of the drive for membership in the Orange County War Service Recognition Association is going to be out of order.

The membership is the scheme adopted for raising funds to honor the men and women of this county who went into war service. It is an equitable way of distributing the cost of the big celebration September 9. While it is not intended that the service men and women shall become members, some of them have shown eagerness to have the honor of joining the association and, of course, their memberships will be accepted. Solicitors, however, will make no effort to secure subscriptions from them.

The names of all the members are to be placed in the cornerstone of the memorial arch to be erected at the entrance to Orange County Park. Children are eligible and it is the desire of the committee that each family secure a membership button for each member of the family. This is necessary in order to procure the number needed to provide the funds for carrying out the program outlined for the day.

Good Time Assured

Everything that can be done to furnish entertainment for the fighting soldiers is to be done and no expense will be spared in giving the boys and girls the time of their lives. They sacrificed personal opportunities and home comforts and pleasure when they donned the uniform of Uncle Sam and the people of Orange county are going to demonstrate their appreciation of the duty performed.

In most of the communities of the county the actual drive work did not commence until this morning. In Santa Ana many teams of men and women started at 9 o'clock for a complete house-to-house canvass. The same rule has prevailed in most every community in the county.

The whole week is to be devoted to this endeavor, if it is necessary, by busy men and women, who are giving their time and energy in a spirit of generosity and interest in the big day that is commendable.

"He went to the front for you; now you wear button on your front for him," is the spirit that is dominating the community at this time.

Risked Their Lives

The boys waded through blood on the battlefields and counted their lives as naught when they threw themselves into the heat of battle to protect the homes of the people of Santa Ana and of every other city and community in the United States.

The people of Orange county today are being given an opportunity to show in a concrete way the depth of their gratitude of the heroic efforts of the young men of this county.

The big celebration on September 9th at Orange County Park is entirely in honor of those boys, and they will be presented with handsome medals.

Prince of Wales In U.S. Soon Arrives in New Foundland Will Be Guest of President

THE PRINCE OF WALES
Royal British Visitor Will See Sights of United States and Canada

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Aug. 12.—The Prince of Wales stepped on Newfoundland shortly after noon today. As his ship and its escort, the Dauntless, steamed slowly up the inner harbor between two lines of craft in gala attire, they were greeted by cheers of thousands and the booming of guns. The crowds in the street were so dense that the program for the reception for the prince was radically changed at the last minute.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Aug. 12.—The Prince of Wales is expected to arrive here today on his visit to Canada and the United States. He arrived at Topsail yesterday on the warship Renown and went ashore to the little village on Conception Bay. It was his first visit to Newfoundland soil. He remained for a few hours only and returned to the warship. He is expected to visit the United States before returning to England.

The young prince who is just past 25 years of age is a rather good-looking Englishman, somewhat serious for one of his years. He has not figured in escapades that have marked the early life of many princes of Europe and is an unusually democratic young man. This was shown during the war and increased his popularity all over the British empire.

But little has been said of his itinerary and it is believed that he has not mapped it out closely but will be governed much by circumstances when he reaches this country.

However, it is stated that he will certainly call on President Wilson and will be entertained at the White House.

SOME SHOPMEN STILL HOLD OUT IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Officials of railroads centering in Chicago today asserted the labor situation was unchanged and that freight and passenger service was being conducted on a slightly limited scale, as has been the case since upwards of 30,000 shopmen quit work ten days ago.

Nearly a thousand strikers returned to work yesterday. Others still held out, their "council" refusing to send representatives to Washington to confer with Director General Hines. No official recognition has been made of their organization here, it was claimed.

DANIELS KEEPS BUSY TODAY IN LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12.—With Secretary Daniels and party leaving late today for Honolulu aboard the super-dreadnaught New York, a busy day for the secretary and a big one for the officers and enlisted men of the fleet opened this morning when 4000 sailors were given shore leave at 9 a. m.

At about the same time the sailors were pouring oversides for a visit to Los Angeles, the secretary and party started on a tour of Los Angeles harbor. Naval constructors and other navy representatives accompanied Daniels for the purpose of looking into the port's naval needs.

A luncheon at the City Club and an address at Pershing Square this afternoon are on the secretary's program for the day.

Leaving for Honolulu with Daniels tonight will be Mrs. Daniels and two sons, Commander P. W. Foote, personal aide to the secretary; Commander Hilton, special aide; Rear Admirals Parks, McKean and McCormick.

Daniels expects to reach San Francisco about September 1. Reports from Honolulu are that one of the greatest celebrations ever planned in the islands is to be staged during the secretary's stay. Dedication of the big Pearl Harbor dry dock is the main official event.

While Daniels and party were busy today, the "goobs" were making good use of their shore leave. A regatta at the harbor this afternoon, athletic events at Exposition Park and a street dance tonight were on the program.

HIGH LIVING COST CAUSE OF SUICIDE

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 12.—Despondent over the losing struggle against the high cost of living, which, she said, kept her five children in ill health, Mrs. Catherine Wohlford committed suicide by taking poison. Neighbors told the police Mrs. Wohlford recently said that, owing to high prices she could "hardly keep the children alive."

REDUCTION IN MEATS, SAYS U.S. REPORT

Wholesale Dealers Cutting Cost as Result of Big Federal Drive

BUREAU OF MARKETS OBTAINS QUOTATIONS

Potatoes, Fruits, Dressed Meat, all Show Drop In the East

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—President Wilson today asked congress for authority to use the secret service in running down profiteers and food hoarders and an appropriation of $165,000 for the work.

By RALPH F. COUCH
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Wholesale food dealers have begun to make big reductions in prices of vegetables, dressed meats and fruits, government reports showed today.

With the campaign to reduce the high cost of living in full swing, comparison of quotations of July 28 with those of August 11 showed a marked decline, which set in after the attack on unjustified prices began.

Potatoes have been cut from fifty cents to $3.40 a barrel since July 28, according to quotations collected by the bureau of markets.

Slashes in the prices of dressed meats range up to five cents a pound for pork loins.

The cutting also has been extended to beef, the figures showed.

Big Drop In East.

Big drops are noticeable in quotations for Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Chicago. Price increases are shown for some grades of meat. The figures indicate the downward trend is general and that increases are exceptional.

For meats, 182 comparisons were made of quotations collected by the bureau of markets yesterday and on July 28. In 107 comparisons price cuts were found. Increases totalled 50, while in 25 comparisons there was no change.

In vegetables and fruits the proportion of price cuts was greater. Cuts numbered 22 and increases only three, while the no-change comparisons were limited to one.

Some vegetables and fruits that have been depressed in price are onions, which dropped 15 cents a hundredweight in New York and 50 cents in Chicago; peaches 50 cents a carrier of six baskets in New York; 25 cents in Baltimore and seventy-five cents in Chicago.

Melons Coming Down.

Water melons declined from $100 to $150 per carload in New York and Chicago. Cantaloupes per crate of 45 melons dropped from $2.50 to $2.75 in New York; $1 to $1.75 in Baltimore and 50 cents to 75 cents in Chicago.

Dealers in pork loins have made big cuts in prices charged retailers in Boston, New York and Philadelphia. Loins weighing 14 pounds or better sold for from 30 to 32 cents per pound in Philadelphia July 28. Yesterday they brought from 25 to 27 cents a pound, showing a reduction of five cents per pound.

EFFECT OF WAR IS STILL SEEN IN W. CANADA

Santa Anans Found Many in Hospitals, Women Busy in Industries

Declaring California to be far ahead of any part of Canada visited by him, and the country crowded with tourists, J. H. Rankin and Mrs. Rankin returned Saturday evening from a month's journey through the western part of Canada.

"When I asked how business was they said it was good, but they didn't say fine, as we do here," Mr. Rankin said. "The crops in the west were light because of drouth, the people depending mostly upon the mining and lumbering." He did not visit the great wheat section in the eastern part of the country.

Upon leaving San Francisco the tourist traffic grew continually heavier, accommodations more scarce and service correspondingly worse, until at Lake Louise both were nearly impossible to get. A good many people, he said, who usually toured in Europe, were unable to go there this year and so fell back on the country nearer home, and many of them seemed to choose Canada, Victoria, the capital of British Columbia, was "very English." All the government officials, parliamentarians and diplomats congregated at the Hotel Victoria, made the place seem a corner of the real old England.

Vancouver was more metropolitan and much the larger city. Also at Vancouver they found the city advertising in flaming posters as a special inducement to tourists, twelve miles of boulevard.

The country was very hard hit during the war, especially Western Canada. At Calgary they visited the army hospital which was full of wounded and crippled men. There were many boys, old men and women on the streets, but very few young men. After leaving San Francisco, they never saw a man running an elevator, and women held many other positions commonly occupied by the men.

The scenery was wonderful and could hardly be expressed. Part of the time it was exceedingly cold and they had to go around wrapped up in their heavy coats. At Mt. Rainier, where they stayed at Paradise Inn, they slept with twelve feet of snow under the window.

During their trip they stopped at Tacoma, Seattle, Victoria, Vancouver, Banff, Lake Louise, Calgary, Spokane and on the way home at Portland.

HIGH PRICES OF SHOES LAID TO BIG PROFITS

Federal Trade Commission Says Packers, Tanners, Makers Are to Blame

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—The Federal Trade Commission has found that the high price of shoes can not be justified by underlying economic conditions. The commission after exhaustive inquiry into the price of hides, leather and shoes is reporting to Congress that the larger packers control the hide supply and have taken excessive profits and passed increased costs to subsequent steps in manufacture and distribution; that the tanner has taken exceptional profits; that the manufacturer of shoes has taken unusual margins and that the prices charged by the retailer are not justifiable, each factor in the industry adding to the burden he had to bear before he passed it on to the next.

advisability of legislation to limit exports of foodstuffs, clothing and other necessities is also before the Senate for action.

Senator Reed, Missouri, was expected to speak on the cost of living subject in the Senate today.

"I am not in favor of letting great quantities of food, shoes and clothing go abroad while we are required to pay tribute to profiteers here," Myers said in urging adoption of his measure.

The grain situation engaged the attention of the Senate Agricultural committee. Heads of farm organizations were in conference with the committee over proposals to abolish the United States grain corporation, wipe out the minimum wheat price guarantee and revise grain grading regulations so millers cannot take cheap wheat and make high-priced flour from it.

Finest Thing Yet, Says Lieut. West of Baby Daughter

Lieut. Z. B. West

Bolshevism Troubles French, According to Santa Ana Soldier Just Returned

"She's the finest thing I've seen yet," That's what Lieutenant Z. Bertrand West, just returned from a year overseas, has to say about his baby daughter, Elizabeth May, now nine months old, whom he had not seen until his arrival home on Sunday, the baby having been born while her father was in France.

Lieutenant West son of Superior Judge Z. B. West, received his discharge at the Presidio Saturday, after serving two years and three months in the army. He is a graduate of Stanford University, where he studied law, and won his commission at the first officers' training camp.

His first assignment overseas was with the 278th Aero Squadron, where he underwent training as an aerial observer and more recently he was with the 347th Field Artillery. After the armistice, he was stationed two and a half months in Germany, and for four months attended the University of Caen in Normandy, specializing on French law.

"Just before my return home, I was enabled to take an automobile trip over a great part of France," said Lieutenant West today, "and was thus able to see what is being done toward reconstruction. The French, while slower than the Belgians, are making substantial progress in rebuilding their country. They are greatly handicapped by the lack of materials and equipment to work with, and there is also some trouble from bolshevism."

"The Germans are coming back fast in the territory where I was stationed, and there is no great destruction there. While the Allies did some as a silent testimonial of the high regard their people have for them.

There should be no hesitancy on the part of anyone in quickly becoming identified with the organization, and he who does not become a member, if he can afford it, will regret that he let the opportunity slip by.

There will be from 25,000 to 30,000 people at Orange County Park on that day and it is going to be a mighty uncomfortable feeling for any one who does not wear the button. A buttonless lapel on that day will be an indication to the boys that the individual has little sympathy for them and does not appreciate what they have done. "Every district in the county is working today, according to the best information I can get," said R. L. Bisby, chairman of the executive committee of the association, today. "All chairmen have expressed the belief that the quota for each district will be quickly taken up, and I have no doubt but that more than the county quota will be raised before the end of the week."

"In Santa Ana all districts are active except the business district. The canvass in this district had to be held off today because all of the buttons did not arrive. I expect to have them here by evening and the teams organized for the section will make their drive tomorrow."

bombing along the Rhine and Moselle rivers, that country has few large buildings and industrial plants, so the country's industry was not greatly crippled by the war, and the people seem to have everything to work with in getting back on to a peace basis."

Lieutenant West is visiting for a time with his father and with his father-in-law and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Yarnell. He is not fully determined upon his future course, but is considering taking up a year of post-graduate work at Stanford University.

FINGER PRINTS ACCUSE TORRES OF NEW THEFT

Man Held at County Jail Linked With Third Burglary

Finger prints taken of the hand of Francisco Torres, alias Joe Garcia, who is in the county jail charged with the burglary of two houses in the southwest section of the city, when compared with photographs of finger prints showing on the outside of a tin box found rifled at the home of O. A. Halladay, 522 South Broadway, proved to Deputy Sheriff Charles Holbrook, according to a statement made by him today, that the man now in custody is the one who entered the Halladay home.

The evidence of the finger print photographs is indisputable, according to Holbrook. At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when Halladay returned to his residence after an absence of a week, he found that the house had been entered. Halladay made a hurried investigation and found that a tin box had been opened with a can opener. The contents of the box were scattered over the floor.

Halladay Ex-Sheriff
Halladay, who was formerly a sheriff in the East, left everything undisturbed and reported the case to the office of Sheriff Jackson, realizing that if marks of fingers were obliterated it would be next to impossible to secure satisfactory prints.

Deputy Holbrook went to the Halladay home and returned to his office at the court house, where he made photographs of the marks on the box. A comparison of these pictures with those he had already taken of Torres' fingers convinced him, he states, that Torres is the man who entered the Halladay home.

Nothing was missed from Halladay's residence, the burglar evidently having been in search of money.

Boys at Work
That boys attempted to loot the home of P. P. Hoover, 109 Cypress avenue, yesterday, is the opinion of City Marshal Jernigan. So far as could be determined nothing is missing. A revolver taken from the residence was found in the yard.

Mrs. Christenson, who resides at 111 Cypress, returning home from town yesterday afternoon, found a pistol lying in her back yard. Hoover occupies a cottage in the rear of her place.

City Marshal Jernigan was notified and investigation led to the detection of an attempt to burglarize the Hoover home. The screen from a window was lying on the ground and led to the discovery. It was supposed that some one had tried to get into Mrs. Christenson's home until the investigation was made.

Boys were seen to have run out of the back yard during the day, having been scared away by a Mr. McBurney. They were making considerable noise, but at the time no thought was given to them as possible burglars.

Dow Home Robbed
Some one entered the home of G. H. Dow, 928 East Third street, about 1:30 yesterday afternoon and secured quite a little plunder. Articles missing are a tan suit case, Victor mandolin, kodak, fountain pen, fishing reel, ivory comb and a shirt. A pass key was used in gaining entrance. There is no clue to work on.

Stole Canned Fruit
Mrs. Case, 416 Mortimer street, has reported the theft of three dozen jars of fruit from her place. The fruit was stored on the screen porch. Mrs. Case was away from home for a couple of days and the fruit was taken during her absence.

Ransacked Trunk
Officers are trying to locate a young man who yesterday rented a room from E. R. Allen at 825 East Fourth street. He engaged the room and during the absence of the Allens he stole a trunk from an adjoining bedroom and went through it. Nothing is missing. He has not been seen since. It is believed that he rented the house with a view to stealing any loose money that might be lying around.

HOW TO STOP BEING NERVOUS

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Strengthen Weak Nerves and Increase Strength and Vigor.

According to a noted French Scientist, the most effective remedy for nervousness, insomnia and ailments due to depleted nerve force, is a form of organic phosphate known among druggists in this country as Bitro-Phosphate. It is described as a substance which is similar in composition to the phosphorus naturally found in brain and nerve cells and, being easily and quickly assimilated, the work of creating nerve force, strength and vigor begins immediately it is taken into the human system.

There are many reports of astonishing results from its use, some showing remarkable improvement even in stubborn cases of long standing nerve weakness. As there are many kinds of phosphates, care should be exercised to procure the genuine Bitro-Phosphate.

Society started it in the Southern winter resorts and now they have it back to the North. Cycling is popular at Vassar, Smith and other women's colleges. A general recognition of the pleasure of cycling is evident among people of taste. Get the habit—it's quite the thing.

GRANT'S CHANGES TO UPSET DOPE ON SERIES

McGraw Will Have Corps of Right Handed Box Men for Games

By H. C. HAMILTON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—If the Giants and White Sox enter the world's series this fall, as they did two years ago, there will be a vast change in the probabilities connected with the games.

The White Sox are, practically unchanged, but the Giants have undergone a series of patching that will totally overturn the pre-game dope.

For instance, in 1917 the Giants flung into the series a coterie of left-handed pitchers which John McGraw for some unknown reason believed could stop the American league champions. This was his decision, in spite of the fact that the White Sox had been making mincemeat of southpaws all through the season.

This year, if McGraw succeeds in his ambition to win another National league flag, he will have a corps of right-handers, stars of the National league, prepared to do battle with the heavy-clouting Sox. Toney, Barnes, Douglas and Causey probably will be his aces, with Rube Benton the only left-hander of class.

The general lineup of the two clubs is unchanged, with the exception of a very few spots. Hal Chase has taken over Walter Holke's duties at first base, something which undoubtedly strengthens the Giants and Bill Raridan has vanished from behind the bat for the New Yorkers in favor of Snyder and Gonzales. The cumbersome McCarty has become a second string catcher. Ross Young does right field patrol duty, vice Dave Robertson. Larry Doyle is back in place of Charles Herzog at second base.

These changes have been vastly helpful to the Giants and the pitching staff may be said to be somewhat stronger than it was on the occasion of the last appearance of the Giants in a world's pennant hunt.

The White Sox are depending on the same three cocky twirlers who lifted them to world's honors two years ago. The infield and outfield are intact.

Man for man, the team with Gandil, Collins, Rirberg and Weaver in its infield outclasses the Giants. Still, balance has swung to the Giants in a small way because of the better pitching they will be able to muster against their opponents—always providing, of course, that the Cincinnati Reds, Detroit Tigers, or some other upstarts do not come along and upset what is in the minds of Kid Gleason and John McGraw.

Watching the Scoreboard

Yesterday's hero—Elmer Smith. His homer into the New York stands brought victory to the Indians in a hard slugging contest with the Yankees, 15 to 9.

Herb Pennock held the Sox scoreless while the Red Sox piled up all of one run.

The Reds ran into a head-on collision with the Phils, who trounced by 5-3.

One big inning did it for the Pirates as they slammed the Dodgers in a five to two contest.

The White Sox also accumulated five runs in a single session, walking off with a 7 to 4 victory over the Senators.

The Athletics started off with a lead but the Tigers wound up with one, 7 to 4.

Round Coast League Bases

Lincoln's advice anent horse swapping in midstream doesn't apply to swapping baseball pilots in midseason. In the first week of Mullen's management, the Seattleites won a series—the first in ages. The Siwash split yesterday's double header with the Beavers.

Curly Brown still is leading the Coast heavers who have pitched twenty or more games, with 15 wins and 6 defeats.

O'DOWD BEATS CLARK

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Mike O'Dowd, middleweight champion, successfully defended his title in a ten-round battle with Jackie Clark, Allentown, Pa., here last night. O'Dowd, the aggressor throughout, had a safe margin on points at the finish.

Joe Jackson Clouts Ball At Good Clip for Chicago

White Sox Slugger Expects to Finish Season Near Top of List

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Joe Jackson, the sensational White Sox slugger, is still pounding away at the old pill as of yore and is helping Cicotte to win a lot of games.

Jackson has spoiled the aspirations of many pitchers who thought they were sewing up games, by his timely clouting. His work with the stick last season put him third in the list of American League batters with an average of .354 in 17 games. During that time he was at bat 99 times, made nine runs, got 23 singles, two home runs and two three-base hits and one home run. He struck out but once. This season he is doing about as well and is expected to finish close to the top of the list again.

"I have been up against it for past 3 years suffering from pain in my stomach and side until I was considering giving up my grocery business. Doctors and medicine did not help me. I heard of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy through a friend in Buffalo. The first dose gave me more benefit than all the medicine I had taken before and am now feeling as well as ever in my life." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. ROUSSELLE AND WIFE TRAVEL IN ALASKA

Entertaining Account of Trio Written to J. C. Metzgar of Chamber of Commerce

A. B. Rousselle and wife of Balboa, who departed on July 17 for a tour of Alaska, South America and the East, are having a fine trip. Believing that his experience might be of interest to others contemplating a trip to Alaska, Rousselle has written to Secretary Metzgar of the Chamber of Commerce some of his observations. He writes from Atlin, B. C., as follows:

"We left San Pedro on the 17th on the Governor for San Francisco, from which point we sailed for Seattle. Had a most enjoyable trip. We had to stop over in Seattle two days waiting for the Alaska boat. It was all smooth sailing from Seattle to here, as it is an inside passage, which touches at Ketchikan, where is located one of the biggest fishing canneries in Alaska, and at Juneau and Treadwell, the famous Alaska mining camp. The last stop was at Skagway, which was and is yet the gateway to the train that runs to Dead Man's Gulch and to White Pass, where the prospectors built their boats and sailed down Lake Bennett, thirty-five miles long, to the head of the Yukon, with their outfits, and started again from White Horse Pass (not White Pass), where they had to shoot the rapids through Mills canyon, which is between perpendicular walls. That is the place where many prospectors lost their lives, if they managed to get over all the other trails to this point, and which was only the beginning of another 600-mile trip down the Yukon to the interior of Alaska.

Scenery is Beautiful

"From Ketchikan to this point the scenery is beautiful. The snow-capped mountains are greater the farther north we go and glaciers begin to show at Juneau. You sail along mountains of ice and floating glaciers that come within a few feet of the boat.

"As you approach Ketchikan the fogs begin to grow longer and by the time you reach Juneau you can read a paper up to 11 o'clock at night, and when you reach Skagway, it is as light as day until 12 o'clock at night, and you look at your watch expecting it is about 7 p. m.

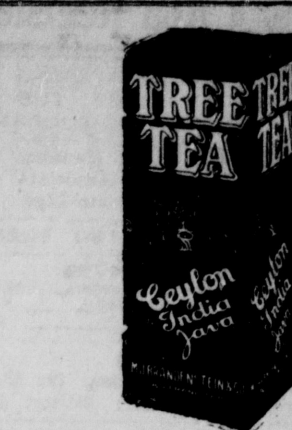

"One can readily recognize it is only a few hundred miles from the Arctic circle. We have just returned from a steamer ride over this 75-mile-long lake, which is a sea of six hours among islands, snow-capped mountains and some of the largest glaciers in the world—the main one here is forty miles wide and 1500 to 1700 feet deep. Tons of ice drop from this at a time and make a boom that can be heard for miles.

"We start from here in the morning for White Horse Pass to see the rapids that the miners used to 'shoot' in the big times here, then we are on our way back to Seattle through Skagway, the mining camp that 'Soapy Smith' used to run at the point of a gun, until he was killed on the pier by the marshal, who in turn was killed in the same duel.

"It is quite interesting to see the pictures of 'Soapy' after he was shot, his crowd, and many other pictures of the gold excitement of the early days, especially by Mrs. Allen, who lives here now, and who made a living in the early days by freighting with a six-horse team driven by herself, winding up with a fortune. She raised three children. One of her sons is now a colonel and another a major in overseas service.

Game is Plentiful

"The game here is thicker than the hair on your head. I had been told that the woods all along from Ketchikan were full of bear, deer, caribou, and other game, but didn't expect to see what I saw from the boat. We were on a river steamer going up the river at Atlin lake, this side of White Horse Pass, about 8:30 in the evening, when we heard the steamer whistle blow. We rushed to the side of the vessel and there about 200 yards from shore we saw two big caribou with beautiful horns swimming toward the opposite shore. The steamer picked up speed and headed them off and made them turn around and swim back to the shore they started from. They got away, as no one is allowed to shoot from boats.

"We had passengers on board who the day before had seen a big brown bear, so here is the place for Santa Ana big game hunters. The rivers are all from one-half to a mile wide, with heavy wooded low hills that lie at the foot of mountains. Game comes to the shore to feed and can be seen all along the route.

"This is a wonderful trip to take for a summer trip and is entirely different from anything one can get in this country. As I look out of the door from where I sit, I can see hundreds of miles of snow-covered mountains that reach away above the clouds, with tops of the mountains out of sight. World travelers say they have never seen anything like it.

"While on the boat going over Lake Atlin, I had the pleasure of meeting Walter Stafford, a brother of E. P. Stafford of the Farmers & Merchants' Savings Bank. They were on their way to Yellowstone, Florida and Havana. Prof. Stafford is taking a year's vacation.

"The whole distance to this place is 2150 miles and all by boat except about 150 miles.

"I have noticed that all oranges up here are marked Sunkist; that certainly looks progressive for Southern California."

ALL ARE SONS OF THE REVOLUTION

The society of the Sons of the Revolution was instituted in New York City, late in the last century, to consist of gentlemen of Revolutionary War ancestry. It now has a membership of 8,000. Today all over this country are springing up societies of soldiers of the Great War of Freedom, which will ultimately be amalgamated into the American Legion, or some national organization under that or another name, whose membership will run into the millions.

The ancestors of the members of the Sons of the Revolution gave to the world the stately indictment of a king, the document whose sentences constituted a spell that spoke a people into freedom, a nation into life, and a continent into a mighty development which blessed humanity and amazed the world. The descendants of the members of the American Legion will revere their ancestors as the men who preserved that freedom and extend it to all mankind.

The controlling spirits of the American Revolution were men whose clear vision pierced the mists of uncertainty, whose brave hearts defied the apparent odds against them, and whose wise and burning words uplifted and aroused a race. And it was the spirit of these men, reincarnate all over the world, that again arose in its might of right to say to a king, "Thou shalt not pass."

Why do we not make of the birthday of Thomas Jefferson, equally with that of George Washington, a legal and general holiday? Jefferson was by impulse and by habit of thought a self-trained hater of tyranny, and his spirit was eagle-winged in its searchings for the uppermost ether of liberty. The Declaration of Independence, which he framed, is at once a knitted chain of logic and a passionate and persuasive appeal for freedom. Even at this day it stirs the blood like the blare of trumpets. It proves the government of George III to have been the most unconscionable of tyrannies. It states the case of the colonists with the force of a demonstration in mathematics and with the poetic beauty of a song of David. It fulfills Mirabeau's definition of eloquence—"reason permeated and made hot with passion." It is at once the protocol, the ultimatum and the epic of the Revolution. Its diction is as faultless as its spirit is high. It is the most powerful document in all history.

When Jefferson said that "all men are created equal"—meaning politically and not physically or mentally equal—he gathered the advanced thought of the eighteenth century into a sentence, which, heated with the passion of love for freedom, he hurled into the face of the English king.

It was not ambition; it was not lust for power; it was patriotism that inspired the men who fought with clubbed muskets at Bunker's Hill; who crimsoned the snow of Valley Forge with their shoeless feet; who followed the gleam of Mad Anthony's sword up against the streaming fire of Stony Point; who encountered the roaring ice of the Delaware; who bared their breasts to the iron hail in Virginia and the Carolinas; who cheerfully suffered hunger and cold and wounds, and who shouted the songs of liberty as they went to the red death of battle, in order that the republic might live—live as a beacon of hope to the world, live as a heritage of liberty to mankind.

Our fathers believed in making personal sacrifices for the public good, and because they so believed, and acted their belief, the United States of America was placed upon the map of the world.

The men of today have proved that the spirit of their fathers survives in the breasts of their descendants. Else why did three millions of Americans cross the Atlantic to aid in repelling the attempts of the Huns to destroy democracy and establish autocratic rule in the world? Else why did one hundred millions of people submit to taxation and limitations of food, and without remonstrance pile up a debt of thirty billions of dollars?

And not alone on fields whose surface men's feet shook like thunder and whose turf was their last pillow, but on fields where weary feet followed the plough to provide food and shelter for the children of the absent, and at firesides where eyes, dimmed with tears, guided the needle through garments prepared for our soldiers, and in counting rooms where fingers, trembling with age, wrote the checks that gave capital to the country, and in shop and factory and foundry, in the hospitals of sorrow, by the midnight watch-fire and amid the roar of the battle; wherever the heart of the nation throbbed, wherever the sword of the nation gleamed, there, upon the parchment of the eternal ages, the sons of Revolutionary sires wrote their title to rank with their fathers!

A FORLORN HOPE

With characteristic emphasis, William McCulloch, in a news story printed in the Register today, takes a determined jab at the movies. The movies are used to being jabbed, but like a certain well known make of automobile, they keep a-rambling right along.

Those who were wedded to the legitimate stage from the first have resented the intrusion of the movies most bitterly. Gradually the movies have grown in popularity while the appeal of the legitimate stage to the public's pocketbook has as gradually decreased. And even the art of those who worship at the shrine of the footlights cannot long endure lack of financial support.

The movies have gone through several stages of development, and doubtless other stages lie before them. The kind of films that were produced four or five years ago are hardly considered worth production now. Possibly another four or five years will see as great a development as has taken place in the screen in the last four or five years. One thing is certain, and that is that the movie producers are always on the job studying the public's desires, and there is nothing that they will do quicker than to play up the kind of movie that they believe will meet the greatest demand. The movies are in a position to give entertainment at a low price, and in entertainment admission prices talk.

The adherents of the fading legitimate stage would have us believe that the movies are utterly devoid of art. They would convince us and themselves that all art in acting has always centered and always will center upon the stage, and never upon the screen. We will speak the sentiment of many hundreds of movie-goers of Santa Ana and every other city of the country when we beg to differ with them.

The movies are here to stay. That fact has been recognized so long and those words have been used so often, it seems hardly worth while to make the statement over again. If the legitimate ever stages a come-back, it will not be because the movies have lost prestige and popularity. The asbestos curtain will never recapture the actor taken by the camera that operates with a crank.

The legitimate may get a new hold on the public's imagination, new ways of gaining public support for its beloved art. The pendulum may swing back to the point where it will draw old-time audiences at old-time prices. Maybe so! We have our doubts. We are very much of the opinion that the legitimate stage must be ranked with the ox-drawn cart and the horse-drawn cab. They were mighty good "institutions" in their time, but "the world do move," and they are among numerous things that could not keep up with the procession.

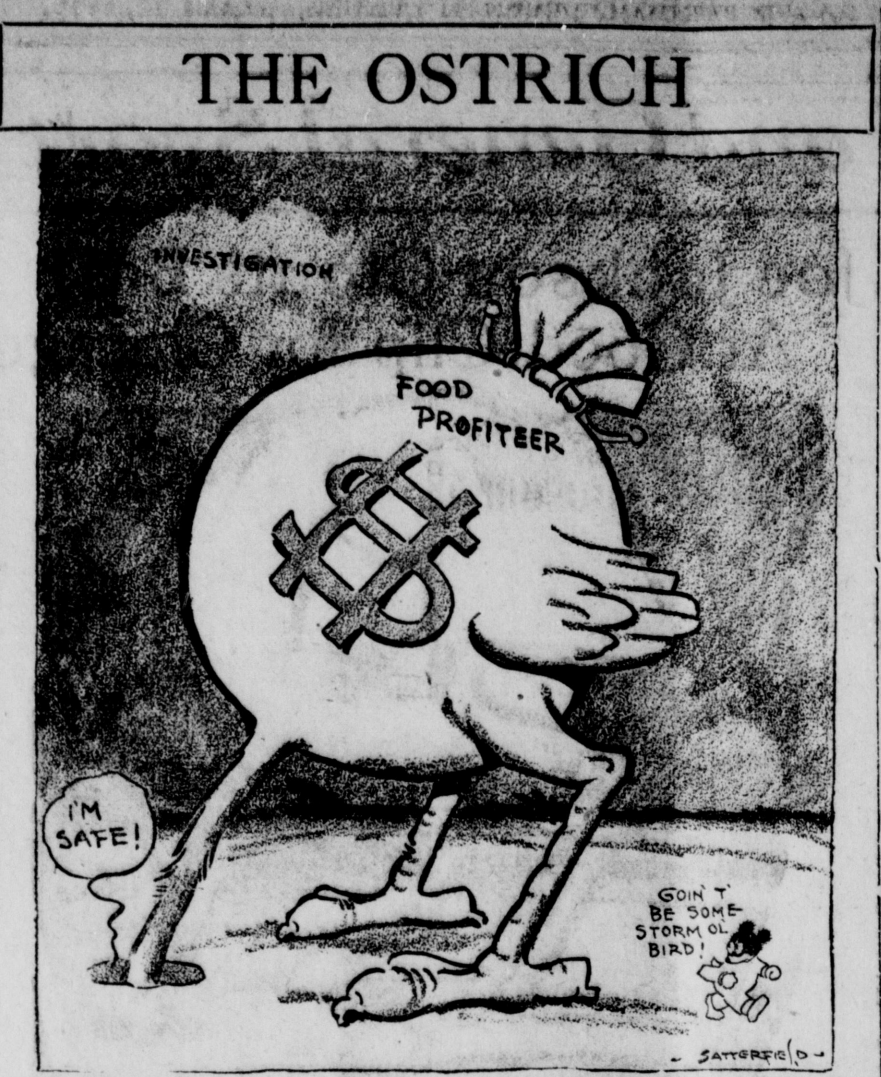

Causes Comment
San Bernardino Sun

If we may judge by newspaper comment, the report filed last week by the San Bernardino county grand jury has challenged widespread attention in neighboring counties. In the space of 72 words, including both the address to the court and the signature of the foreman, the jury said all that it had to say with reference to the condition of county matters, and at a minimum of expense which has probably never been equalled, certainly not in the modern history of the county, the grand jury completed its work and adjourned.

Evidently, nobody brought a serious complaint to the jury, nor one that it thought worth following far. Its committees looked into the work of the various departments of county activity, and reported favorably. In the 72-word report is included an approval of the work of all county officers, and having arrived at such an opinion, without fuss and flurry, the jury adjourned. It was in no sense a "political" grand jury. And there have been such.

There are students of public affairs who think the grand jury system has outlived its usefulness. We are not sure of that. Now and then a situation develops that seems to be beyond the reach of the ordinary channels of investigation, and a grand jury with the nerve can do its county and the public a great service. Which is as it should be. The vice of the system is that it affords a chance for the venting of grievances that are political rather than public, and no county is immune from that sort of juries, now and then, whose main fault is that they could not be defeated on election day, or that their political organization influence is formidable. That in itself is not to their discredit, much as it may be to the advantage of some of the rest of us.

It could be hoped that county administration will justify many similar grand jury reports in the future, and if they are justified, that this model may be adopted.

Why Trade at Home?

There may be people in Santa Ana who trade occasionally, or often, in Los Angeles stores who have never stopped to analyze the meaning of the "Trade At Home" slogan. Possibly they have a vague idea that it is a slogan framed merely to help the home merchant grab a few dollars. Possibly they have not considered the matter from the standpoint of community building.

If you would ask them if they were loyal to their home town, they would assert most positively and spiritedly that they are.

But are they? Possibly their disloyalty is thoughtless, but nevertheless the strength of logic is against them.

Money spent by Santa Anans in Los Angeles helps to build up Los Angeles, not Santa Ana. Every dollar spent in Los Angeles that could be spent at home, weakens Santa Ana that much, draws from Santa Ana's material resources just that much, heads off forever the circulation of that dollar in Santa Ana, leaves that much less money in Santa Ana for paying employees who live in Santa Ana, lessens prosperity and to that extent depreciates property values.

Santa Ana's stores carry first-class stocks of goods, better than any city of our class that we know of, and prices quoted here are fairer than those in Los Angeles. Recently a comparison of prices in meat markets over Southern California showed that Santa Ana's markets offer meats of all grades at prices lower than in any other of the cities, including Los Angeles, where prices were investigated. What was found true of the meat markets is true of other lines of business. Santa Ana merchants make it a point to treat their customers fairly, to seek legitimate profits only. Los Angeles merchants, dealing with a great heterogeneous mass, charge all that the traffic will bear.

In these days of sudden changes in prices, it is far safer to trade in stores where you are known, and where you know with whom you are dealing, where you know you will get a square deal, than it is to go into the stores of a large city, where you may not get a square deal.

But aside from that, trading at home helps your neighbor, the man who makes his living clerking in a Santa Ana store, whose increase of income is dependent upon the prosperous condition of the business house where he is employed, who contributes to the church to which you, too, contribute, who belongs to your lodge, and whose subscription to the Red Cross and the Liberty Loans helped in making the totals of which you were justly proud.

Trading at home helps all of us. Trading at home builds up Santa Ana—our community—your home city.

ONE MORE VETERAN

Ever since the old war, of the days gone by,
With the rattle o' thunder 'round the old home sky—
When the country was a-fightin' of its kith and kin, Granddad's been talkin' 'bout the battles he was in!
As if there wasn't books to tell us o' the time he did his part,
He's told us of the battles till we know 'em all by heart!
But our boy's home from the fightin', an' he says: "Well, I'll allow There's one more veteran in the old home now!"

Grandad starts him talkin' 'bout the world he fought to free,
An' pats him on the shoulder: "Got his fightin' grit from me!
Like his daddy here before him, he's solid as a rock;
The whole endurin' family comes straight from fightin' stock!
Oh, he sure kept up the record with the boys behind the guns;
He knowed what he was there for, an' his bullet found the Huns!
It's his time to do the talkin', for my tune's up anyhow—
There's one more veteran in the old home now."

An' aint we glad it's that way—that we had a boy to fight
'Gainst the terror o' darkness, in the battle for the light!
Then he stayed till it was over—till he heard the home command,
An' his country, with his home-folks, is so proud to shake his hand!
"My boy," says his mother—with her arms about him so,
Oh, home's like hallelujah, an' in thankfulness we bow—
There's one more veteran in the old home now."

Newport Heights residents got a fine view of the fleet without leaving their homes.

If there are any crops growing in Orange county that are worth "blowing" about, one of them is the Harper district apple crop. H. B. Woodrough has 30 acres of three year old trees that present a beautiful fruitage. And his older trees are carrying a burden of fruit that is worthy of praise. The same may be said of the apple groves of George Huntington, George A. Waterman, D. J. Dodge and a number of others. Undoubtedly the apple is the fruit especially adapted to this section of the county. There has been quite an increase of acreage added this year and it is predicted that the future will see hundreds of acres set

ABOUT WAR RISK INSURANCE
Santa Ana, Cal., Aug. 12, 1919.
Editor, Register:—As you printed my complaint about the delay in the War Risk Insurance Bureau, a cutting of which I forwarded to our Congressman, I think it is only fair to hand you the reply of the new Director of the Department, showing the earnest steps being taken to remedy matters.
Yours Truly,
HENRY J. WEEKS.
Treasury Department, Washington, August 4, 1919.
Mr. Henry J. Weeks,
Post Office Box 65,
Santa Ana, California.
My Dear Mr. Weeks:
Your letter of July 22nd has been received. I am very much interested in your suggestions, and also in the replies which you received from two persons who had dropped their War Risk Insurance.
I am glad to say that at the present time proposed legislation is before Congress, which, if approved, will greatly facilitate the handling of War Risk Insurance, both from the standpoint of the bureau and from the standpoint of the insured. The proposed legislation includes lump sum payments at maturity, a larger permitted class of beneficiaries, and many other changes, each of which will be advantageous to the ex-soldiers, sailors and marines, and their dependents whom we are so earnestly striving to care for and render the maximum amount of efficiency.
I indeed appreciate your letter and assure you that every step will be taken to bring the bureau to the highest state of efficiency possible.
Yours very faithfully,
R. G. CHOMELEY-JONES,
(R. G. Chomeley-Jones) Director.

A CHANTED CALENDAR

FIRST came the primrose, on the bank high,
Like a maiden looking forth
From the window of a tower
When the battle rolls below,
So look'd she,
And saw the storms go by.

Then came the daisies,
On the first of May,
Like a banner'd show's advance
While the crowd runs by the way,
With ten thousand flowers about them they came trooping through the fields.
So came they,
As a happy people come.
When the war has roll'd away,
With dance and tabor, pipe and drum,
And all make holiday.

Then came the cowslip,
Like a dancer in the fair,
She spread her little mat of green,
And on it danced she,
With a fillet bound about her brow,
A fillet round her happy brow,
And rubies in her hair.

Echo Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the C. W. B. M. will be held Wednesday afternoon in the community house of the First Christian church, Mrs. Porter will have charge of the program.

This will be an echo meeting from the Long Beach convention. All who attend this convention are asked to be prepared to give some item of interest that impressed them.

New Members for Veteran Daughters

The Daughters of Veterans at the regular meeting Monday afternoon received four new members, Sadie Skiles, Lochie Obar, Florence Hawkinson and Adda Cowan.

Many sick calls were reported and a number of bouquets were sent to comrades and families. The relief committee reported $34.90 relief work. Votes of thanks were given and the secretary requested to send letters to those helping with the encampment work.

It was decided to hold the second regular meeting in August as there were some things of importance to attend to.

All Daughters of Tent No. 10 are invited to attend a picnic in Long Beach August 16. Bring lunch and meet at G. A. R. hall not later than 10 a. m. next Saturday morning. Coffee will be furnished. Bring dishes.

Los Angeles, Fullerton, Santa Ana and Long Beach are joining in one grand "get-together day" at Bixby Park, Long Beach.

A Delightful Reunion

One of the most delightful of reunions was participated in last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Trueblood by a "bunch" of cousins, who had not seen each other since they were children.

The most appreciated of the features of the evening was the presence of Ensign Wallace S. Wharton of the destroyer Ward, who is with the Pacific fleet at San Pedro. Mr. and Mrs. Trueblood motored to San Pedro yesterday and brought Ensign Wharton home with them.

The sailor boy was the honor guest at a charming dinner last evening, covers being laid for him, the other cousins being Mr. Trueblood, Mrs. Jarboe and Mrs. Shirley and their husbands, Herman Shirley of Whittier, Fred Jarboe of Holtville and Mr. Trueblood.

The table was decorated with a cut glass bowl filled with yellow and white summer blossoms in a Frenchy combination of colors and the places were marked with fans of smiling sailor lads.

The evening was happily passed with reminiscences of childhood days and Mrs. Trueblood surprised the company by exhibiting kodak pictures of Ensign Wharton when he was but one year old.

Ensign Wharton will spend a few days at the Trueblood home.

Attractive Courtesy

Mrs. R. E. Beswick extended a pretty courtesy to her niece, Mrs. Roy Head, who leaves for her home in Honolulu on the 15th, when she was hostess last evening at a six o'clock dinner in her honor.

Roses were used in decorating and music and visiting passed a very pleasant evening.

Covers were laid for the hostess, Mrs. R. E. Beswick, the honor guest, Mrs. Roy Head and Mrs. W. M. Ward, Misses Blossom Ward, Marguerite and Alice Beswick and Miss Eulalie Head.

Missionary Meeting

The Woman's Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian church will hold its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday afternoon at two-thirty in the church. The subject will be "Review of the Year and Orientals in the United States." Mrs. W. A. Patterson will conduct the services.

MAN JAILED AT SEATTLE AS EMBEZZLER

Complaint Issued Here Accuses Former Richfield Resident

That J. J. Stein, against whom a complaint was issued here, charging him with the embezzlement of $300, has been taken into custody and is being held pending the arrival of officers from this city, was the information contained in a telegram received today from Seattle by Sheriff Jackson.

In the telegram it is stated that Stein will waive extradition. Stein was formerly employed by George Waterman as manager of a mercantile store at Richfield. It is alleged that Stein, who had authority to sign checks in the name of Waterman, in the conduct of the business, wrote a check for $300, which he gave as part payment on an automobile which Stein is alleged to have appropriated to his own use.

In part, the telegram received by Sheriff Jackson says, "Stein has auto."

City and County Briefs

The Newman cottage on the Cliffs at Laguna has been purchased by John Knox of the Ford Garage. Mrs. Knox and the children decided upon immediate occupancy of the newly acquired property. Mr. Knox going down for the week-ends.

The price of the Oakland Sensible Six, four-passenger coupe, is $1870. The local dealers are Edgar & Hays at Fifth and Broadway. This statement is made because of an error in Edgar & Hays' advertisement on Saturday, some of the papers being printed before the error, giving the price as $1820, was discovered and corrected. Most of the Register folks were down seeing the fleet pass and when the proof reader got back she went right to work, and nearly all of the papers gave the Oakland coupe price correctly—$1870.

Peter Vlahor, fruit and vegetable dealer on East Fourth street, this morning paid a fine of $5.00 in City Recorder Heathman's court for leaving trash and rubbish on the sidewalk in front of his place of business.

NEW CHARGE MAY BE MADE AGAINST HIM

DEMANDS $600 AS RESULT OF CRASH

Remanded to the county jail on the same bail that had been fixed at his arraignment, $10,000, A. Snellgrove, an automobile repair man of Ramona Acres, Los Angeles county, is awaiting trial in the Superior court, following his preliminary hearing before Justice Cox on charges brought by the mother of Lillian Doyasbere, 14.

There were moments of intense drama at the hearing. A startling admission further incriminating Snellgrove, and involving herself, came from Ramond Lereux, 14, while she was on the witness stand.

Snellgrove at his examination yesterday offered no testimony. The hearing began promptly at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. All witnesses except the one on the stand, were excluded from the court room.

Lillian Doyasbere, the 14-year-old girl upon whose statements the mother, Mrs. Camille Methivier, based her complaint against Snellgrove, was the first witness called.

She testified that on June 11 she was alone at the Methivier home with Mr. and Mrs. Snellgrove, the Snellgrove baby and Ramond Lereux. Bit by bit, under skillful questioning by Attorney Menton, the story of the alleged attack upon her by Snellgrove was brought from the girl's lips.

Mrs. Camille Methivier was the second witness called to the stand. The testimony she gave was corroborative of that given by her daughter.

Alex Methivier, step-father of Lillian Doyasbere, was then called, he occupying the stand for only a few moments. As he descended from the witness box and leaving the court room he looked savagely at Snellgrove, who was seated at a table, slightly to the rear of his counsel, Attorney John C. Steeley of Los Angeles and Attorney Bishop. Methivier muttered several words indistinctly as he passed near the defendant.

Miss Lereux followed Methivier on the stand. Her story was told amid intense quiet, and her admission may mean the bringing of a second felony charge against Snellgrove.

The testimony given by both Lillian Doyasbere and Ramond Lereux tended to show that Mrs. Snellgrove was aware of the crime of which her husband is accused.

Dr. R. A. Cushman was the last witness called.

In a complaint on file at the office of the county clerk today, W. H. Perry asks judgment of $600 from Julius Fischer of Fullerton as the result of an automobile accident near Saugus, Los Angeles county.

It is alleged in the complaint that Fischer drove his automobile "carelessly, negligently and unlawfully."

In a demurrer on file with the county clerk, Fischer, with Allen & Allen of Fullerton as his attorneys, says that in the complaint it cannot be determined in what manner Fischer's actions were careless, negligent and unlawful. In addition the demurrer sets forth that it cannot be ascertained from the complaint whether the $600 claimed is for damages to Perry's automobile or for personal injuries to him or for amounts expended for the repair of the car.

Fred O'Farrell of San Diego is attorney for the plaintiff.

On Fischer's demand an order granting change of place of trial to Orange county was issued in the superior court in San Diego county.

COURTHOUSE NOTES

Public Administrator Brown has applied for letters of administration in the estate of Cora A. Bassett, who died on August 4. The estate, according to the petition, is valued at $1500.

Nick Pappas, of Pappas and Pappas, proprietors of a confectionery stand at 218 Fourth street, has sworn to a complaint charging Robert Wellis with forging and passing a $15 check. The check was uttered on the First National bank of this city, with intent, the complaint alleges, to defraud Abe W. Johnson, Western Litho Company, Los Angeles.

Carolina Robles has sworn to a complaint charging Baulada Lara with battery.

Suit to quiet title has been entered by Attorney Head and Rutan in behalf of Frederick Strochein, Fred Strochein, Minnie Strochein, Clara Strochein Whitson, Frank Strochein, William Strochein, Pauline Strochein and Frederick Strochein, the latter guardian of Carl, Arnold and Herbert, minors, against H. K. S. O'Melveny, as trustee, William Potter, Frank Potter, Josephine Potter and John Doe Potter, her husband, and Miguel Yorba. After setting forth that on July 11 Frederick Strochein was duly appointed the children's guardian, the complaint recites that she owns an undithat Charles Perez, 19, and Bertha Hughes, 15, are being sought. The couple left Downey on August 10 and the following day a marriage license was issued to them at the courthouse, they giving their ages as 18 and 21, respectively.

In reply to a telegram received from Attorney Harry A. McKinzie of San Francisco, asking a continuance in the case of John Carter, charged with knowingly marrying a person already married, Justice Cox has wired to the Bay City stating that Carter's preliminary examination has been set for August 20. Carter was arrested in San Francisco with Mrs. Florence Amelia Musser.

The preliminary examination of Fred A. Robertson, charged with non-support by Ruth Robertson of Anaheim, has been set for August 25.

A Steady Stream Has Been Pouring Into Our

MID-SUMMER SALE

THIS has been the most successful sale in the history of our business, and we have conducted many sales since we have been in Santa Ana. A steady stream of shoppers has crowded our store since the very day we began this semi-annual clearing event. Great quantities of good merchandise has been carried off by the buyers, eager to make every dollar do its utmost in these perilous days of high prices. And in appreciation of the splendid success we have had, we are extending this sale another week. Which means there will be bargains in shoes, in ready-to-wear, in piece goods—in every department of our store for six more days.

FILM PRODUCERS CAPITALIZING SCENERY OF COUNTY

Local Theatre Man Believes Companies Should Pay
For Privilege

That Orange county's natural scenery should be capitalized through the taxing of moving picture producers who come into the county and "cop" one of Orange county's greatest assets without in any way remunerating the commonwealth, is the opinion of C. E. Walker, proprietor of the Princess theater.

He believes that a license should be charged to outside producers who come here, or that companies should be made to locate establishments within the county in order to avail themselves of the scenery to be found here appropriate for the backgrounds of their productions.

"This county should capitalize its scenery, either by placing a license tax on the producers or securing the establishment of moving picture plants within the county, with the use of the scenery limited to the local companies," declared Walker today.

"The producers are 'copping' one of our best assets and we get neither advertising nor compensation for it."

"Newport Bay cannot be duplicated anywhere on the coast as a place for producing plays where water scenes are necessary to the proper staging of such productions. The movies should be compelled to pay at least $1000 per day for the privilege of using that bay. It is now county property—it is desired to be a big asset, and we shouldn't let the companies come here and walk off with the big stuff without compensation."

Best Natural Scenery
"Orange County Park, the mountains to the east of town, Laguna Beach and numerous other places in the county offer the very best natural scenery for filming pictures. The big picture industries are located in other cities, which derive all the benefit of the vast forces they maintain and the big disbursements they make in wages and the purchase of equipment for production."

"We have scenery here that they cannot get any place else in Southern California. They have worn out the scenery in the places where they have been producing, and the refilming of the same places in different pictures becomes monotonous. The movie fans quickly recognize the same location of scenes in different pictures. The producers must seek new fields for making their plays and now they are coming in to Orange county with the utmost regularity. Banks, stores and the court house in this city are being filmed more frequently."

"In my opinion Orange county should get busy and locate a big film producing company somewhere, and reserve our scenery for one or more companies that might locate here. I believe that legislation by the Board of Supervisors should remedy the situation and bring about a condition where our scenery could be capitalized."

DESTROYER ZANE IS LAUNCHED IN NORTH

VALLEJO, Cal., Aug. 12.—A fitting tribute to the gallant service of Major Randolph Talcott Zane, the destroyer Zane plunged down the shipways here today.

The vessel was named in honor of Major Zane, who died of wounds received in the battle of Belleau Wood, during June, 1918, while a member of the United States medical corps in France.

The launching of the vessel was attended by Major Zane's widow, and the vessel was christened by Zane's five-year-old daughter, Marjorie. Mrs. Zane is the daughter of Gov. William D. Stephens of California.

A short time previous to his death, Major Zane, then a captain was decorated with the Distinguished Service Medal by General Pershing and raised to the rank of major.

Asparagus Growers Turn Their Loss Into Profit By Co-operative Methods

"HOW a Group of South Carolina Asparagus Growers Turned Losses Into Profits" is the subject of an article in the current number of The Country Gentleman, and in view of the deep interest that is now being manifested in this section in the marketing of California products, this article, written by Charles E. Bassett, is timely and interesting.

Under a co-operative association, it was found that the price of asparagus to the consumer was actually cheaper, while the returns to the grower are higher than under the old plan, because of a greater stability in prices. Bassett's article, a strong argument in favor of co-operative methods, is here printed:

No siree! I haven't any time to waste on farmers' meetings. All they do is to meet and jangle and then resolute and go home and do nothing. And even if they do agree to do something, they won't stick to their bargain. I've been growing grass here for over five years and it was good grass, too, but it's been a losing game and I'm going to plow it up and try something else."

Such was the welcome received by the writer from one of the largest asparagus growers near Ridge Spring, South Carolina, in the spring of 1915. My visit to that district was in response to a request from the late Senator B. R. Tillman, himself a pioneer grower of asparagus at Trenton, South Carolina. He had taken a great deal of interest in the establishment of the Bureau of Markets, with which I was then connected in the United States department of agriculture, and when his section faced its fourth consecutive annual loss in trying to market its crop he came to the new bureau with the characteristic command: "Get busy on this asparagus deal and either make good or acknowledge that you're no good!"

Acting on this injunction, the writer was not greatly encouraged by his initial reception. Not willing to acknowledge defeat without firing a shot, the suggestion was offered: "Without doubt, you have reason for your lack of faith, but have you always played this asparagus-marketing game in accordance with the rules?"

Rules of the Marketing Game
"I don't know what you're driving at," said he, "but let me tell you that selling asparagus is no game, and if it is, it's one where the cards are all stacked in favor of everyone except the grower. It sure has been a bunko game for us."

Remembering that citizens of South Carolina are most jealous of their reputation for courtesy and hospitality, he was reminded that I had been invited to come down from the national capital to try to help him and his neighbors and that it would seem fair to refuse me a hearing.

That was enough to get the growers together and it was explained to them that marketing is a game, with certain definite rules, a violation of any one of which would result in trouble, if not financial loss. This marketing game consists in getting products that are wanted, in the style, condition and quantity they are wanted, when and where they are wanted, with the least possible waste and expense.

It was discovered that past failures in marketing South Carolina asparagus had been caused by a disregard of nearly every one of the market demands named. As a rule the asparagus had been without uniformity of grade, pack and container. It had been shipped in individual lots by express, reaching different markets at different times. When and where to ship had been determined by the skill of solicitors for various city distributing agencies, rather than in accordance with definite market information. Naturally such haphazard methods has resulted in deterioration in transit and consequent low prices which, together with large expense, resulted in heavy loss to everyone connected with the deal, poor products for the consumer, trouble for the dealer, claims against the transportation companies and financial loss to the grower.

Agreed to Contract
The growers at the meeting were sick enough to take most any kind of marketing medicine, however bitter, if the remedy promised relief. Growers of about 90 per cent of the district asparagus agreed to a strong contract binding each one to prepare his "grass" in accordance with very definite grading rules and to ship exclusively through the association. Four grades as to size of stalk were made—"Colossal," "Fancy," "Extra" and "Choice." Bunches are tied neatly with colored tape and packed snugly in a standard crate, twelve bunches to the crate; the butts of the bunches resting in damp moss to keep the grass fresh. On the end of the crate is placed the association trademark, "Dixie Brand." At each of the five shipping stations—Trenton, Ridge Spring, Williston, Elko and Hattiesville—a local inspector examines each shipper's pack to make sure it is up to the standard. It is then carefully packed into refrigerator cars, which move to the Potomac Yards, near Washington, where they are diverted to the markets that offer the highest price.

In spite of great care, local inspectors are liable to vary considerably in their interpretation of grading rules. A traveling inspector was employed the past season to check up the work of the local inspectors, but state inspection will be arranged for after this, so as to make the grading practice at the five loading stations more nearly uniform. This is most important, as it is unfair to establish a pooling price on the various grades unless these grades are uniform. Some states have arranged to supply such inspection, each shipper paying the actual expense.

Manager Is Needed
Having arranged to meet market requirements by preparing and shipping a standardized product, the important problem bobbed up: "Where can we get a manager to sell our high-grade product at a high price?"

That was some problem, for thousands of farmers' marketing associations have gone on the rocks because of poor sales managers.

The asparagus shipping season in South Carolina lasts less than two months—from March 10 to May 10 usually—and a high-grade sales manager hired by the year would make too high an overhead cost. Besides, it was essential that the association have its own representatives in the various markets, to furnish information, and actually to sell the asparagus and collect the money.

Upon investigation it was found that farmers' associations in other states, producing vegetables and fruits, had faced the same problem of finding the most skilled sales talent for a short season, without having to carry the expense for the whole year. It was found that a number of these growers' organizations, some in Michigan, others in New York, Texas, Colorado and elsewhere, had been formed into a group whose combined tonnage created a year-around business. It was found that each member of this group obtained for its short shipping season the most complete service of skilled salesmen and was relieved of the expense as soon as the crop was moved.

Eliminate Rejections
This sales service is maintained and supervised under what is known as the North American Fruit Exchange, which has a central office in New York City, while all the important cities throughout North America are covered by resident salesmen—salaried men, who secure confirmed orders for carlots of fruits and vegetables, inspect and deliver the cars when they arrive and thus eliminate a great many rejections and claims for price reductions that occur when the shipper attempts to sell independently. This plan gives the association a salaried representative in each of the principal markets to act as its personal agent.

So the asparagus association joined in the use of this service, and they had assigned to them for their shipping season one of the most experienced sales managers in the vegetable business to direct the diversion of their cars from Potomac Yards gate way each day to those cities that would pay the best prices. In addition, another man was sent to South Carolina to keep in daily touch with crop conditions, inspections, and so forth, reporting to the distributing center daily. With this knowledge of daily supplies, the distributing sales manager being in telephone touch with all the asparagus markets, sometimes two or three times a day, the distribution is evenly spread.

The price to the consumer is actually cheaper, while the returns to the grower are higher under this plan, because of a greater stability in prices.

Making Co-operation Successful
From the very first season this association plan of marketing has been a big winner in every way. Losses have been turned into profits, and, as the association brand has established its dependability, it has been possible to secure a steady advance in price each year. While the early season shipments sell for as high as $18 to $20 a crate the sales during the rush season have ranged as high as $3600 a car, the average car containing about five hundred crates. The association has about 180 members and ships about one hundred carloads each season.

By co-operating in buying their supplies—fertilizers, crates, tape, and so forth, the members have also saved many thousands of dollars each year. Four seasons of playing the mar-

Marketing Meeting Open To Growers of Every Kind Of Product

C. C. Teague of Santa Paula is to deliver an address tomorrow evening at the Temple Theater on "The Marketing of California Products, Past, Present and Future." Announcement of this meeting last week aroused considerable discussion among farmers and orchardists, and there seems to be a general recognition of the fact that the marketing problem is of tremendous importance to the fruit and nut industries of the state.

Growers of all kinds of products are invited to be present at tomorrow night's meeting. This is not a meeting for association men only or for independents only. It is a meeting at which the facts in the general marketing situation are to be discussed by a man who is considered the best informed man on the situation available.

Teague has had a wide experience in marketing various California products.

A. J. Crookshank, president of the First National Bank, is to be chairman of tomorrow evening's meeting. Among men who will be present will be three Los Angeles men, George Farrand, attorney for the citrus exchange and for the California Walnut Growers' Association, and W. T. Weber, assistant manager of the walnut association.

LIVE STOCK IS TO FEATURE BIG FAIR

With the opening date of the largest fair in the history of the state but three weeks distant, the work at the grounds is taking on a more intensive tension. The various counties are beginning the work on the booths to contain the elaborate exhibits ranging from cotton to canned goods, each intent that theirs shall be the best and most talked of exhibit this year. Never in the history of the fair association has there been such a diversified list of exhibits with new entries in all lines arriving daily and clamoring for more space.

The housing facilities for small live stock have been renovated and visitors will be greeted with immaculate sheep and hog pens. The loading pens have been enlarged and the congestion of previous years is eliminated since it is now possible to secure carload lots. The fair association has spared neither pains nor price to make this fair the most extensive and efficient fair conducted under any administration and with all conditions considered nothing can stop it.

The Baby Hygiene exhibit created so much comment last year, has been placed under the control of the State Board of Health and under the supervision of Dr. D. A. Kellogg of the State Board of Health and with Miss Amy Steinhart, assisting him gives assurance that this exhibit will be more comprehensive and interesting than before. The educational features of this exhibit can not be overlooked as it is assisting in a question of national import and vital importance to the human race.

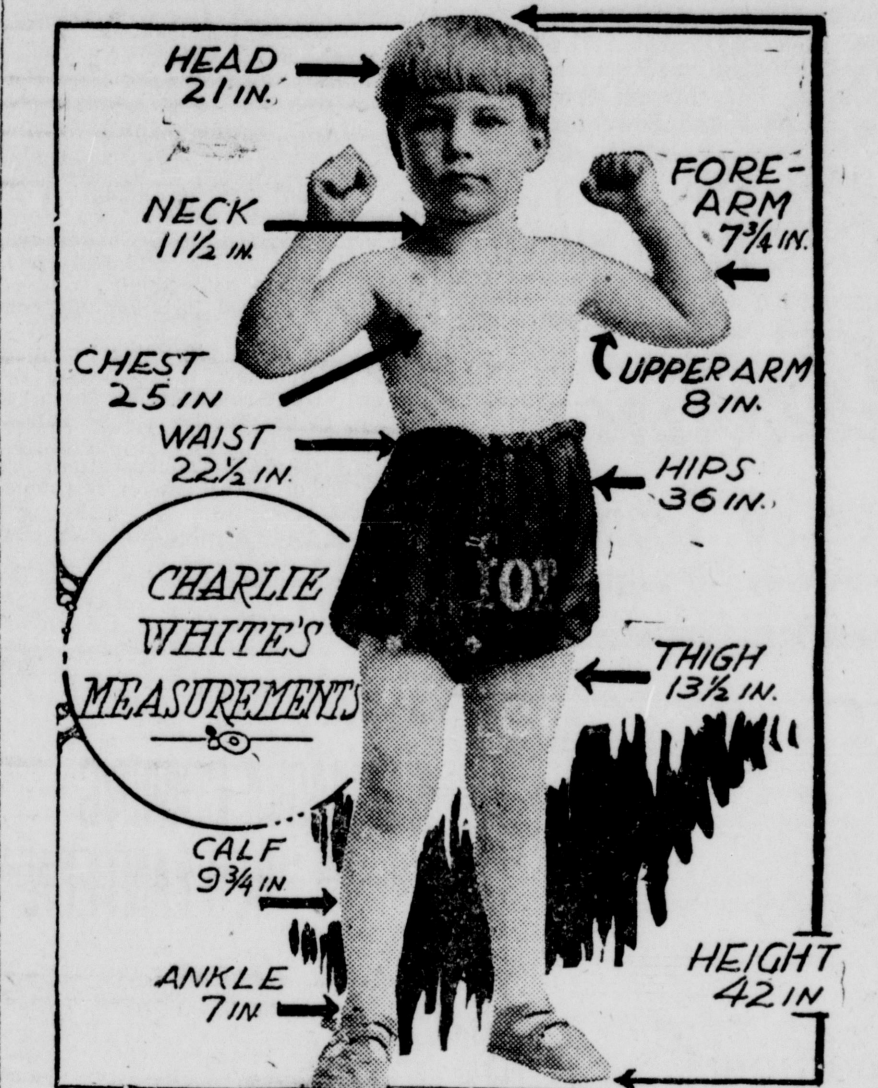

Competition between Guernseys and Holsteins promises to be exceptionally stiff in the dairy department since the stockman is thoroughly awake to the possibility in dairy types.

Gaited horse enthusiasts will see the fullest card ever exhibited east of the Mississippi and one which will compare favorably with the largest horse shows in America.

Systematic Training Gives Amazing Strength to Child

Boy at Age of Four Shows
Fine Development as Result of Exercise

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—How strong is your boy?

Little Charlie White at the age of four years and who weighs 50 pounds is something of a wonder as a result of the careful and systematic training given him by his father.

He can lift over his head a 10-pound bar bell with either hand 15 times. With both hands he can lift a 25-pound bar bell to the same height. At three months' Charlie could stand alone. At eleven months he lifted a scuttle of coal weighing 26 pounds—equal to his weight. At two years he could swing from a horizontal bar with one hand. When Charlie was 2 years and 4 months he could raise and lower a 10-pound weight five times, and could chin himself on a broomstick held by his father.

SAN FRANCISCO MUST TRIM YEAR'S BUDGET

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—As the result of lost revenue in saloon licenses, and a refusal last night of the supervisors to authorize a $3.08 tax rate, San Francisco's budget must undergo a drastic trimming.

The present rate is $2.41. The original budget calls for $19,000,000. Something like $4,000,000 must be lopped off, according to Supervisor McLeran.

EARTHQUAKE RECORD KEPT AT UNIVERSITY

Thirty-six earthquakes from October 1, 1917, to March 31, 1918, were recorded in the Berkeley seismographic station, and fifty-four earthquakes during the same time in the Lick Observatory station, according to the August University of California Bulletin of the Seismographic Stations, just published by E. F. Davis, instructor in mineralogy and geology in the State University.

The Berkeley station recorded four earthquakes in October, as against eighteen recorded at the Lick station; five in November as against fourteen; thirteen in December as against eleven; five in January to seven; seven in February to two; and two in March in both stations. October, November and December were the months recording most shocks in both stations; March showed the least number. Some of these tremors were recorded at a distance of more than 5000 kilometers.

DEFINITE STEPS NEAR IN BEAN CONFERENCE AT OXNARD

Independent Buyers' Affiliation With Association
Expected Today

Definite steps looking toward the affiliation of independent bean buyers with the California Lima Bean Growers' Association for marketing purposes were expected to be taken at Oxnard this afternoon, according to William C. Jerome, who was at Oxnard yesterday.

According to word received here today by Jerome, representatives of independent buyers were unable to be present at yesterday's meeting. The Association directors canvassed reports as to the acreage that had been signed up, these reports showing that only 65 per cent had been secured. The tentative agreement that had been made with the independent buyers was to the effect that if 80 per cent could be secured the independent buyers would affiliate with the Association as selling agents.

The association directors instructed the committee to accept a 75 per cent acreage, provided it were found that 80 per cent of the total acreage could not be secured. This was done in order that no technicality might stand in the way of reaching an agreement.

On account of the inability of representatives of J. M. Waterman of Los Angeles and the A. and H. Levy Company of Oxnard to be present at yesterday's committee meeting, final action was to be taken this afternoon.

Jerome reports that there is a short crop of beans on unirrigated lands in Santa Barbara and Ventura counties but that on irrigated lands, especially in the San Fernando valley, crops of baby lima or Henderson bush beans are excellent.

MOUNT HOOD CLIMBED BY MARINE WITH PACK

PORTLAND, Aug. 12.—The shades of night were falling when Sergeant E. L. Todd, of the U. S. Marines, finished a climb of 11,225 feet up Mt. Hood, near Portland, and nailed the colors of the Marines to a building that crowns the summit.

It took the sergeant just seven hours to make his way through a blizzard to the highest peak in Oregon. The flag he carried was a four by ten standard, and his pack was loaded down with a hammer, nails, a blanket and provisions for the journey.

Todd was once a great admirer of Longfellow. He says that the New England poet had the wrong dope when he wrote "Excelsior."

ANTELOPE VALLEY WHEAT
LANCASTER, Aug. 12.—Several carloads of Antelope Valley wheat have been shipped from here this week, over the S. P. railroad, for Los Angeles market. The wheat was raised in the Del Sur community by the "dry farming" method and shows up splendidly. A good price was received by the ranchers for this grain. The crop was a little above the average yield this year and ranchers are much elated thereby.

Co-Operative Methods Solve
Problem for Many South Carolina Growers

keting game according to business methods have changed a discouraged agricultural district into an enthusiastic co-operating community.

The following practices may be considered as contributing to the success of such a co-operative shipping association:

Strong Organization

A strong organization, with competent officers, controlling a large portion of the tonnage of a single product under a binding membership contract. The co-operative purchase of supplies necessary in the business; the resultant savings being an attraction to hold members. A uniform product, carefully graded under definite rules as to size, color, variety, and so forth, attractively wrapped and firmly packed in a suitable container.

Adoption of an attractive brand or label is important, the copyright being owned and controlled by the association, to prevent its use by outsiders.

There should be a most thorough inspection of all shipments by competent state inspectors to make sure that the grading rules are fully sustained.

And important, of course, is the selection of a strong and reliable marketing organization, having sales offices in all large consuming centers, with authority to divert to and sell the cars in the highest cash market each day.

NAZIMOVA COMING IN "RED LANTERN"

Nazimova, the distinguished Russian star, will be the feature in the powerful Metro super-feature, "The Red Lantern," at the Princess theater tonight and tomorrow afternoon and evening. In it she is seen in a dual role, which gives her opportunity for the most powerful characterizations of her brilliant career.

The two roles which she enacts are as widely different as the poles—one is that of the Eurasian girl, Mahlee, and the other Blanche, her English half-sister.

The story tells of the life of this half-caste girl, who born in a coffin shop in the Chinese quarter of Peking, is, at the death of her grandmother, taken to the Christian Mission and brought up amidst European surroundings. The conflicting blood which surges in her veins causes her passionate restlessness—she feels the lure of China, the mysterious and passionate land of her mother, but the inheritance of her English father, the ideals and intellect of the West, are strong within her and she is like a ball in the hands of Fate—flung from one extreme to the other.

How she becomes the powerful War Maiden of China—the Goddess of the Red Lantern—is shown in this play of remarkable and startling happenings where all the mysticisms and gorgeousness of the vivid East is woven into a powerful and fascinating drama. The lure of the Purple Forbidden City—the customs and superstitions of secret China—the gorgeous pagentry and pomp which surrounds the Orient with golden glamour is shown with a touch of magic which brings romance to life.

THEATRE 'GAME'
—SELF-SLAIN—
M'COLLOCH

Former Manager Predicts a Big Change in "Show
'Business'"

Declaring that the "show business"—and not the "movies," as is generally supposed—has been the cause of its own death in all but the larger cities of the United States, and that the motion pictures are merely the buzzards feeding off the carrion of the self-slain so-called legitimate theatrical industry, William McCulloch, city electrician and former lessee and manager of the Grand Opera House, in an interview today, stated his belief that there would be a great change in the theater "game" in the course of a few years.

Asked if he thought the time was ripe for a new theater in Santa Ana, McCulloch said:

"No, not now. In about four years there will be a change in the way theatrical business is managed in this country, and then, perhaps, conditions will be such that Santa Ana can support a first-class, modernly-equipped show-house."

Blames Avaricious Methods
Avaricious business methods on the part of the theatrical "trusts" in the East, have been the principal cause of the break-down of the "show business" in America, according to McCulloch. The "movies" have been but a small factor in bringing the stage to its present unprofitable and lifeless condition, he believes.

"The 'movies' are merely the buzzards feeding off the carrion of the dead 'show business,'" said McCulloch; "and the 'show business' killed itself. There are a number of reasons why the 'legitimate' killed itself. One of them is the grasping methods of the eastern 'trusts' and another is the high percentage charged by the booking concerns for booking productions in the theaters on the road. The booking agencies charged the traveling companies five per cent and the local house managers an additional five per cent merely for booking road organizations. Naturally, after the local managers settled with the traveling managers on a percentage of the receipts there was but little left, either for the local manager or for the traveling manager. Both were practically forced to discontinue business."

The change that will come in the theatrical business will result in an adjustment of financial conditions in "the game," McCulloch believes. In a few years there will be a return to the old-time stock company mode of entertainment. In McCulloch's opinion, and the automobile will enter largely into the matter of the transportation of theatrical companies from city to city.

"Before the Civil War, and some some time later," McCulloch went on, "there were small stock companies in practically every city of any consequence. These companies were permanent in every theater. Such stars as Barrett, Booth and Keene would select a week's repertoire and send it ahead to these companies. The manager of the local company would then rehearse his actors in their parts, and when the star arrived he would find a well-drilled and capable company of actors ready to support him in his leading role. I expect to see the time in a few years when there will be a return of this system.

Automobiles to Figure

"At the present time there are comparatively few companies on the road. Theatrical managers can no longer secure suitable rates from the railroads for transportation. I believe that this question will be solved by the automobile. Smaller companies will be put on the road and these will be hauled about the country by motor car."

As concerns actors, these are no longer "being made," according to the belief of McCulloch. One of the main reasons why the young actors went into the motion picture "game" was, he believes, because they were practically forced into it. Managers of road companies were compelled to go out of business and, naturally, when the actor found himself out of work in the "legitimate," he turned to the unspoken drama for a means of livelihood, McCulloch stated.

"Actors are not being made any more," said McCulloch. "When the theatrical business comes back the managers will need players, and these will have to be developed."

Through With "Game"

McCulloch is through with the theatrical "game." When asked if there was a possibility that he would manage a theater in Santa Ana, if one were built, he replied:

"No, not unless I'm hired, and, of course, there is small possibility of that. I'm through with the theatrical business."

Too Efficient
"Discharge that press agent immediately," thundered the theatrical manager.

"But," protested the financial backer, "he has got some wonderful publicity."

"That's the point. If the actors and all he has written they will become so impressed with themselves that there will be no hope of meeting salary demands."—Washington Star.

CAMP MEETING OF ADVENTISTS IS CLOSED

Attendance of Members Largest in Recent Years

ORANGE, Aug. 12.—With the pronouncement of the benediction at the close of the service Sunday night the camp meeting of the Seventh Day Adventists which for the past ten days has been in session on the high school grounds in this city came to a close.

From the standpoint of members it was the largest held in the Southeastern California Conference in recent years. All available space on the grounds was occupied by the family tents and the four large pavilions while all the vacant lots nearby were occupied as parking space for autos and private campers. Rooms in hotels and apartment houses have been at a premium.

The offering for mission work in the foreign fields was approximately $7000, including $1235 given at the two Sabbath school sessions.

Sales of Bibles, periodicals and books amounted to something over $5000, the demand for Bibles at the book tent being reported as very good.

Will Meet at H. B.

TWO IN HOSPITAL AS RESULT OF ACCIDENT

FULLERTON, Aug. 12.—As the result of a head-on collision between two automobiles about one mile south of Buena Park late Sunday night two persons are in a hospital at Anaheim and both automobiles were hauled to garages for repairs, they being badly damaged.

The parties in the hospital are Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Wiley of Fullerton, according to an investigation made by Marshal Myers, who visited the scene of the accident a short time after it happened, this name corresponding with the license number of their wrecked car, their address being R. F. D. No. 1.

Mrs. Wiley suffered a dislocated kneecap, besides receiving many cuts and bruises about the head and neck. Mr. Wiley received a bad cut on the nose and also many bruises. They are not dangerously injured.

The parties in the other auto were members of the Cole family, who reside a short distance from where the accident occurred. They escaped with a few bruises and a bad shaking up and were able to return to their home.

LOS ANGELES TO SELL BEER LICENSES AGAIN

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12.—City Attorney Burnell yesterday put the "kick" into United States District Judge Bledsoe's "wet" decision, when, in an opinion sent to City Clerk Wilde, he authorized the city to again issue licenses under the Gandier ordinance. This means that if the holders of Police Commission permits to operate under the Gandier ordinance will appear at the city clerk's office with the necessary money, they will receive licenses.

Armed with these the license holders may then sell 2.75 per cent., or war beer, if they desire to take chances of prosecution by the Federal government, for all licenses will be stamped that they are issued "subject to all provisions of the United States statutes."

HUNTINGTON BEACH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 12.—

One of the largest crowds ever in this city thronged the municipal pier and all along the ocean bluff for two miles or more Saturday to see the great Pacific armada. The vessels slowed down and several came to nearly a standstill directly off shore here. The scene was majestic and one long to be remembered by the thousands who witnessed it. Not a single mishap occurred to mar the pleasure of the day.

Huntington Beach is short on cottages to rent to furnish the transient demands. Many people are being turned away daily for lack of accommodations.

Walter Rigdon arrived home Friday, having been mustered out of service. Carlos C. Warner is expected home some day this week, he having arrived in San Francisco last Saturday from France.

Ben Catching and family from Madera arrived Saturday for a vacation with his mother and brother Reuben. The mackerel are in again and fishing is fairly good this week.

Formal Murder Charge is Made Against Burt for Watchman's Death

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Cal., Aug. 12.—Characterized as "one of the most remarkable young criminals of the age" Seth Burt, alias Edward Langdon, 22 years of age, was today formally charged with the murder of David Morehouse, a night watchman, at Paso Robles on the night of May 7. Burt has signed a confession admitting the murder. With him is held and charged Hugh Moore, 19, who was with Burt on the night of the murder.

In his confession to Sheriff Taylor, Burt frankly admits the crime charged, saying that Moore was not a party to the murder. He coolly described how he and Moore entered the hardware store in Paso Robles, and were discovered by watchman Morehouse. Seeing they were apprehended, Burt declares he opened fire on the officer and that several shots were exchanged before Morehouse was fatally hit. The two young men were arrested the next evening in a stolen automobile enroute to Los Angeles.

Burt, who claims to be the son of a Burlingame judicial officer, confessed to hundreds of automobile thefts and other robberies. He also claims distinction of having kidnapped a 16-year-old high school girl of Ashland, Oregon.

FEW APRICOT TREES BEING GRUBBED OUT

Only small and scattered lots of dried apricots, which were not contracted for, remain in the hands of growers in this section, according to J. T. Wilson, buyer at the Guggenheim packing house on Fruit street. These lots are being bought up on an average of 25 cents per pound, Wilson states.

Only a negligible number of apricot growers are planning to take up their trees this season, according to Wilson. This is in contrast with conditions during the past few years, when, following the drying season, a considerable apricot acreage was grubbed out, to make room for orange trees.

"Prices for dried apricots are good and this of course deters the majority of the growers from taking out their trees," said Wilson.

The pit cracking plant at the Guggenheim packing house is now cracking more than a carload of pits per day. The price for pits is about the same as last year, $40 to $45 per ton.

Walter Fine, owner of five acres of apricots at the corner of Santa Clara avenue and Broadway, has begun to grub out the trees. He will set out the land to oranges.

The Kings river decreased in flow from 4900 second feet to 900 second feet within a short time, and it is feared the damage to crops will be serious.

Miss Dooling is a charming vocalist, and is making a tour in this state. The time was pleasantly passed with music, both vocal and instrumental. Mr. Harris, who is visiting at the Inn, is also a musician and did his share of making the time pass quickly.

TRUCK ON FARM GROWING MORE VALUABLE

Enormous Growth of Demand Indicates Increase In Usefulness

The farmer, dependent as much on rapid access to the market as on the productivity of his farm, finds the modern motor truck coming to his aid and solving many of the troublesome problems arising from shortages of labor and the short haul. It is stated that a truck on the farm will replace from two to four men, and will make available for other products five acres of land, the yearly crop of which is now required to feed one horse.

It has been estimated that in view of the greatly increased production of foodstuffs, wheat, rye, barley, oats,

corn, beef, pork, mutton, eggs, milk, poultry and fruit, that 200,000 trucks could profitably be used between farms and markets. Only 450,000 motor trucks are now available for all lines of business. This is only 22 1/2 per cent of what could be applied to farms alone.

The use of the truck in so-called rural motor express lines offers the best possible medium through which farmers, truck growers and dairymen may get to their markets. The truck is also being used for the delivery of live stock to stockyards.

Some makers will sell 60 per cent of their trucks to farmers.

Many trucks are carrying raw materials to factories. The absence of the service rendered by these trucks would often mean that thousands of men would go idle for lack of the raw material on which they work.

Some railroads have had to decree that goods consigned in less than carload lots cannot be delivered in any specified time. This ruling results from a shortage of rolling stock and equipment, and a general congestion in freight yards, terminal points and warehouses.

The facilities of express companies for general work have been very much limited through the necessity of using baggage and express cars in troop movement. Therefore the pur-veyor of food supplies has found himself hard pressed to get transportation. He is placing increasing dependence on the motor truck.

The development of heavy haulage companies operating between big cities and sometimes covering as much as 50 miles in their regular routes, is a significant development. The use of trucks in this kind of work is increasing by leaps and bounds, for the truck is superior for short-haul work and in making stops enroute. It can deliver supplies to the door of the consignee. It saves time and labor.

In many points it has been found necessary to place embargoes on movement by rail of certain kinds of freight within certain zones. The result has been to divert this haulage to local transportation and transfer companies, the medium in almost every case being a truck.

The enormous growth of business and the extraordinary volume of war haulage virtually overwhelmed both railroad and steamboat facilities. Both have more freight than they can handle. Only transportation over the highways offers any considerable possibility of immediate relief.

Almost all trucks serve their war purpose. This applies equally to trucks that are going to the European battlefronts, and to those that will be used in this country.

Many purveyors in war supplies have based their schedules of rapid delivery on the help of the motor truck.

Summer Vacationists Disposing of Cats at Rate of 1,000 a Month

* SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—
* The last two months have been
* hard ones on cats, Superintendent * McCurrie, of the Society for the * Prevention of Cruelty to Animals,
* in charge here, said today.
* Summer vacationists have dis-
* posed of their cats at the rate of * 1,000 a month. These, with their
* nine lives, have been destroyed.
* Dogs, on the other hand, Mc-* Currie said, have a stronger hold
* on the affections of their masters.
* Some 300 stray and tramp canines
* find their way to the pound each * month, of which fifty are saved
* from destruction.
* There has been no decrease in
* dog licenses, McCurrie says,
* despite the high cost of living.

San Jose has a new cannery in operation, having started July 7. It is claimed that building and appliances called for an investment of half a million dollars. The output will be about 130,000 cases of both fruit and vegetables. The cannery will employ approximately 500 women and girls.

"BEAT THE MARINES" SLOGAN OF CAVALRY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—In a stirring appeal to candidates for places on the Cavalry Rifle Team of 1919, to represent that branch of the service in the National matches, Colonel Morton Mumma, team captain, states:
"You know that the Marines have already put their men to work and the cable dispatches today tell us that the first three men in the A. E.
F. Rifle Competition, just completed, were Marines, and that they also won the regimental match. Our slogan is "Beat the Marines," and with cordial support from every regimental commander I feel confident that the Cavalry can repeat its first and only National match victory of 1913.
"Our slogan is 'Beat the Marines,' but to do this we will have to produce a really good shooting team.
With your full-hearted co-operation,
it can and will be done."
A slogan is on thing, but—to "Beat the Marines" is another.
All the trophies worth shooting for are now in General Barnett's office, Headquarters United States Marine Corps.

MANY PUT IN JOBS BY FEDERAL BOARD

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Represental Board for Vocational Education does not attempt to place in employment discharged soldiers who have minor vocational handicaps; these are referred to Federal or State employment agencies. The Board does place disabled men who have completed courses of training, or those whose handicaps necessitate a try out in actual employment in order to prove the need for training. During a vacation period the Board finds employment for the men in training.
The placement section also has the oversight of disabled men placed in the trade for their training. The Federal Board has placed up to date 14, 639 men, some after training and some without training being necessary. The placement section of the Federal Board has been organized so as to reach every part of the country, either directly through its own agents or through other agencies working in cooperation with them. Every disabled man placed by the Board is followed up at least once to make sure that the arrangement is satisfactory to both the employer and employee.
